

Summer Reading Activities Babies and Little Ones

Your babies and little ones who aren't yet reading can also participate in summer reading!

Mark a circle for every reading session, every book you read, or every activity you complete. Here are some activities especially for babies and little ones, or make up your own.

- Sing a song to your little one
- Tell your little one a story from your childhood
- Play peek-a-boo
- Visit the library or bookmobile
- Come to a storytime or event at the library skokielibrary.info/events/kids
- Read to your little ones when they're doing everyday activities like eating, taking a bath, getting ready for bed, etc.
- Point out the pictures in a book
- Make different faces and use the words that show different emotions like surprise, happy, sad
- Take a stroll and point out colors, shapes, and sounds
- Check out some board books or picture books from the library
- If you know more than one language, talk to your little ones in a language you don't often use
